Wellsboro Agitator.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 8, 1891.

FRED K. WRIGHT, FRANK COREVERY,
Editors and Proprietors.

THE State Grange Committee on Legislation wants a 4 mill tax placed on railroads for local purposes.

THE Delawareans have again been arrested, charged with embezzlement under the Act of May 9, 1889. Truly the lot of the ex candidate is anything but pleasant.

[illegible] KERR, of the State C[illegible] ee, has announced himself as a candidate for Clerk of the next House. Mr. Kerr has many claims upon the Democratic party, and would make an efficient Clerk.

As now it is stated that the notorious Dr. Ray Hamilton is not dead, but [illegible] assumed name at Salt [illegible] New South Wales. No one will [illegible] because he wants to get to any [illegible] of the world and hide [illegible] he has committed [illegible] no good.

[illegible] has sent the following nominations to the Senate for confirmation: John J. Rogers, to be Judge Advocate General; Louis W. Read, of Montgomery county, to be Surgeon General; Chambers McKibban, of Allegheny, to be Inspector General, and Herman Osthaus, of Lackawanna, to be General Inspector of Rifle Practice.

SENATOR CAMERON was burned in effigy at Pittsburg one night last week, by indignant Republicans, because of his failure to endorse the Force bill. There is little excuse for this exhibition of temper on the part of Republicans. Senator Cameron has all along said he was opposed to the measure, and he was reelected to the Senate by Republicans knowing such to be the case.

DURING Governor Pattison's administration State loans aggregating about $5,000,000 will become due. As about $4,000,000 have been invested by the State in United States bonds and there is a surplus in the Treasury of nearly $4,000,000, the debt law can be practically relinquished if there should be no change in the present system of taxation and no extraordinary expenditure of money.

SENATOR DAVID BENNETT HILL'S term will begin the 4th of next March. Two years of that term will be served under a Republican President. Doubtless all of it will be served while a Republican majority holds the Senate. Mr. Hill's patronage as Senator will be next to nothing for part if not all of his term.—Elmira Advertiser. Is it possible that the advocate of monopoly, Federalism and the Force bill, already concedes the election of a Democratic President in 1892?

FRIENDS of Senator Quay assert that he is preparing a denial of the damaging statements made against him by the New York World. The only denial Quay can make to the charges is to commence an action against the World for criminal libel, an action much desired by that paper, as it would then be given an opportunity to offer positive proof in justification. The statement that Quay is preparing a denial of the specific charges made by the World is too silly for serious discussion.

HON. SAMUEL BUTLER, ex-State Treasurer, died at his home at West Chester last Sunday afternoon after a lingering illness, aged 65 years. In 1879 he was nominated by the Republicans for State Treasurer. His opponent on the Democratic ticket was Daniel O. Barr. Butler was elected with the rest of the Republican ticket, receiving a majority of 50,000. The story goes that there was a deficit in the Treasury at that time, and that Honest Farmer Butler refused to accept the office until the deficiency was made up.

LAST week the Legislature passed a joint resolution calling upon Senator Cameron to support the Force bill in the Senate. The resolution was laid upon Governor Pattison's table, its supporters thinking it would receive his signature. But the Governor vetoed the measure. He had no desire to assist in reproving Senator Cameron for voting against an infamous bill solidly opposed by the Democracy of the entire country. In short Governor Pattison has shown that he is unwilling to be made a tool to further the despicable attempts of the Administration to continue itself in power against the wishes of the majority of the voters of the country.

"THE Farmers' Alliance is wise in determining to have no affiliation with the old political parties and to run candidates for President and Vice President in 1892," says the Philadelphia Times. "After reading the Alliance platform, which demands the earth and the fulness thereof, it is certain that neither of the old parties can [illegible] it. There is nothing [illegible] it alone. [illegible] as [illegible] the [illegible] of [illegible]

—Water in Tuscarora creek last Friday carried away the A. & P. railway trestle at Addison. Mail matter, express and passengers had to be transferred to the south side, half a mile from the station, by means of teams.

—According to a census bulletin just issued from Washington this county has 1,120 square miles. Lycoming is the largest county in the State, 1,195 square miles. Bradford has 1,150; McKean, 1,150; Potter, 1,060.

—A chestnut tree was cut on the lands of the Blossburg Coal Company a few days since, which when sawed made 2,813 feet of lumber. It is said to have been the largest chestnut tree in the vicinity of Blossburg.

—The annual reception and ball of the Mansfield Hook and Ladder Company last Friday evening was attended by about 65 couples. Several were present from this place. It is pronounced the social event of the season at Mansfield.

—The [illegible]lenon is now [illegible] at the Institution. Becom[illegible] is [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

THURSDAY, [illegible] 8, 1888.

[illegible]

[illegible] with the city with
An [illegible] with [illegible]
[illegible]
And [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]
And of the sunrise sweetness, drank my fill,
I saw, as a wrist of fever all pearly,
A yellow bowl of daisies on the sill.

I pictured to myself my pretty neighbor
Who placed with gentle hands the flowers there,
Who smoothed each stem in shape with loving labor,
To fragrant in the balmy morning air.
I wondered was she tall, or tall, or slender,
And did she [illegible] of sprays or golden curls;
Her heart, I knew, was kind, and good, and tender,
A queen of all the daisy wreaths of girls!

I fancied her sweet face within a bonnet,
Thread her in dainty muslin gown of white,
With sprigs of lilac scattered all upon it,
And knots upon her breast of ribbon bright.
"Her eyes," I thought, "are like the sky above me;"
Her voice just like a rippling [illegible] rill;
How nice 'twould be if she would learn to love me—
Just as she does the daisies on the sill!

Just then the lazy cabinet curtain parted
And Jenny [illegible] [illegible]-forty if a day—
Looked out and greeted, while I smiled back,
half-hearted,
To think twas Jones who lived across the way.
To make my vision bright as sad and solemn,
And all my mellow morning dreams to fade!
A man who writes jokes at so much a column,
While thinking that he's daisies on the sill!

—Kate Masterson, in Buffalo Courier.

THE BAPTISM OF FIRE.

A soldier's first battle in war does not always come at the appointed hour for battle. Many of the actors in it do not expect to participate in the fight the morning after weeks of [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]
